Interpretive Studies in Healthcare and the Human Sciences

Nancy L. Diekelmann, Series Editor, and Pamela Ironside, Series Assistant Editor

THIS SERIES IS COMPLETE

Original Series Description

Aimed at both health care practitioners and scholars in the human sciences, this series examines current issues in the practice of healthcare, both in the United States and internationally. The series encourages interpretive approaches to these issues, specifically interpretive phenomenology, critical social theory, and feminist and postmodern discourses.
